SUBJECT: CQM1 PLC end of production

Dear customers,

Automatisation JRT Inc. would like to remind you that the Omron company has terminated the production of the CQM1 PLCs series since March 2012. These PLCs have a lifespan of about 25 years. So, you can still enjoy your equipment without any problems. The CQM1 PLCs are present in many of our controllers built between 1997 and 2008. Please note that the Omron repair center will continue to offer repair services for this product until March 2019.

Automatisation JRT Inc. has a large inventory of products in hand. it is also available from several Omron distributors across 80 countries or online from select resellers.

We would like to remind you that the CQM1 product line is designed to last 25 years, as stated in the enclosed letter from our Omron retailer.

It will be possible to extend the life of your controller, after these 25 years of use, by updating them at a lower cost. We can replace your CQM1 PLC model with a more recent model, as Omron maintains compatibility between its products. This conversion can be carried out by your service teams or by our specialized technicians at an extremely competitive price.

This memo is informative only and no action is required at this time, because the first systems equipped with CQM1 PLCs have been in operation since 1997 and their lifespan is about 25 years.

For more information, don't hesitate to contact us at 418-871-6016 or by email at asc@jrtinc.com.
